About the Programme: M.Voc. in Entrepreneurship is designed to equip students with the requisite skills, knowledge, and networks needed to become entrepreneurs and innovators. The programme builds in students the ability to create business ideas, develop these ideas into product and service offerings, and then design a commercial venture to take business ideas to the market. Entrepreneurship Development explores entrepreneurship as the passage of a business idea into a new commercial venture; creating an opportunity to contribute to the society by offering employment to the unemployed. The specialization may involve recruitments, administration of duties, accounts, and estimation of profitability, all basically involving brilliant ideas and funding support.
